

HIGIPRATIC I

Assembly Instructions

Washing hands properly, is an important method to prevent infection in health related establishments, specially nowadays, when microorganisms are becoming more and more resistant.

Aiming the elimination of cross-infection in consulting rooms due to the use of tap handles, Cristófoli developed the Higipratic I (electrical activation set for taps).

- ▶ The Higipratic I valve was developed for taps with flexible fittings as the supply line.
- ▶ To install, remove the flexible fitting and install the Higipratic I set, or just disconnect the the upper side of the flexible fitting of your tap and couple it to the Higipratic I water inlet, according to the diagram below:
- ▶ Note: Tap not included.
